

Dear Parents/Carers,

I am delighted to share our Ofsted Report. Haggonfields has been graded as 'Good' for Behaviour and Attitudes, Personal Development, Leadership and Management and Early Years Provision. This is great news for all in this wonderful community. I am keen to share some of the things that the report says:

'School encourages pupils to aspire and be the best they can be. An ambitious and well-considered curriculum has been developed to make this possible. Pupils are inspired to believe in themselves.'

And also:

'Pupils respond well to increased expectations for their learning and behaviour. They have a secure understanding of what it means to follow the 'Haggonfields' Way'. Pupils' positive behaviour contributes to the school's calm, orderly and purposeful atmosphere. Pupils play well together at social times. They show kindness and respect for one another.'

In Early Years, inspectors said:

'Children start their education well in the early years. There is a sharp focus on developing their communication skills'

I am also delighted that the inspectors have asked us to continue to develop writing. This has been a major priority over the last two years and standards have improved substantially. There is, of course, always more to do and I agree that this area requires improvement.
